APTA Future of Physical Therapy Summit

Event Prospectus

In 2021, we will celebrate 100 years as a member association and launch our next century as the largest community for physical therapists, physical therapist assistants, and physical therapy students. APTA's Future of Physical Therapy Summit is designed to highlight the evolution of the profession to meet the needs of society in the future. Featuring insight and inspiration from physical therapy leaders on how to answer this call to action as APTA moves into its second century, sessions will be organized around the three areas of impact featured in APTA's mission statement:

- Building Community: A session focusing on intentional community-building beyond our norms and extending our reach and impact.
- Advancing the Physical Therapy Profession: A session focusing on innovation and trends in patient care and physical therapist practice.
- Improving the Health of Society: A session focusing on telling the story of how physical therapy transforms lives and our potential for the future.

The program also will feature an address from APTA President Sharon Dunn on physical therapy in the next APTA century, ignite style videos, and a panel on passing the torch to our future practitioners and positioning the next generation to lead.

Taking place at the Capital Turnaround in Washington, D.C. – an historic car barn turned into a state-of-the-art event venue – this invitation-only event will be limited to 1,000 in-person participants.
